

Jean & Mikhael

Biography

Jean-Mikhael is a West London born and bred fully rounded artist and fashion icon. If you'd like to put boxes around his genre, you could say it's a mix between R&B and pop but if you dig a little bit deeper, you will quickly realize that the young BRIT school graduate does not conform to any genre. As true artists do, the songwriter uses his personal life, his experience, laughter, and pain mixed with an eclectic array of different influences to create a truly unique musicality and branding.

After performing more than 200 shows around the UK, successfully released an EP and singles and working with the best coaches (Troy An-tunes & Mr B.) Jean-Mikhael has reached a maturity point in his career where his uniqueness, elegance and musicality are completely his own and ready to take over the world. More than that, he is also an accomplished model. Working in the fashion world gave him a keen sense of taste, perfectly coupling with his music to create an authentic, unapologetic, and engaging branding.
